Take Apartment Zoning Case Under Advisement

The petition of the Helgerson Construction Co., headed by George Helgerson, of Brightwood, for a reclassification of zoning to permit erection of two apartments in Mokena, has been taken under advisement by the Mokena zoning board of appeals following a hearing last Saturday.

There were no objectors at the hearing.

It was indicated the board would arrive at a decision in the next 10 days or two weeks which it would transmit to the Mokena village board.

Mokena's present zoning ordinance makes no provision for multiple residential dwellings but the village is said to be in the process of amending the measure and bringing it up to date. The amended form is expected to provide for apartments as it is conceded that the population growth forecast for the area will make such housing a necessity.

But even with multiple housing provided for it would still be necessary for anyone contemplating such structures to have a hearing before the zoning board and have the property involved reclassified, it was explained by Mayor Charles Swanberg.

Take Registrations Now For Mokena Kindergarten

Mokena Happy Hour Kindergarten registrations for 1962-63 are already coming in, according to Mrs. Vernon Lankenau, chairman for the kindergarten committee of the Mokena Women's club.

All children in Mokena and vicinity as well as neighboring communities are eligible to attend this private, not for profit kindergarten. The children who enroll must be five years old by Dec. 1, 1962.

This kindergarten, state licensed and approved, is in its second year of operation by the women's club. It is taught by Mrs. William E. Howard of

New Lenox, a certified and experienced kindergarten teacher.

The school is held in Fellowship Hall of the Mokena Methodist church. This space is rented by the women's club for use by the kindergarten and there is no other connection with the church as the school is non-sectarian.

The cost of the school is $18 monthly. Enrollment will be limited to 25 pupils. Registrations will be taken until May 1. For further information and advance registration call Mrs. Rumbly, Mokena 5495.

S. Milwaukee Girls Team Wins Color Guard Contest

The Mariners, a sharp outfit from South Milwaukee, were the winners of this year's "Colors in Motion," an exhibition by crack color guards from Illinois and neighboring states, staged last Saturday night at Lincoln-Way high school.

The contest was sponsored by the Dominos, the girl color guard unit for Bobzin-Swinford American Legion post of Frankfort. Because they were hosts the Dominos were barred from competition.

The Mariners are not strangers in fast company. It is an all girl team and placed second in the National Junior American Legion color guard contest at Denver last year. That they were clicking last Saturday is evidenced by the teams they beat.

Finishing second in the contest were the Phantomettes from Rockford who hold a most impressive record. They have won the national VFEW color guard championship the past two years and last year the Amvets color guard champions.

And in third place was another outfit that has been among the national leaders, the Shadows, an all boy color guard from Kankakee. They have won the national American Legion junior color guard competition twice, the only team to ever repeat in that contest.

There were teams present from Chicago, Aurora, and Muncie, Ind. In all there were seven girl teams and one of boys.

The precision and snap in which the competing teams went thru their paces delighted the crowd.

Hold Three Ex-Convicts For Area Burglaries

Three men who allegedly have confessed burglarizing two business establishments at Frankfort, and three places in Mokena, as well as a food store at Channahon, a grocery at Minooka and the VFW post club rooms at Coal City, are now under lock and key at St. Louis.

The confessions, made to Sheriff Gilbert Knater and Investigator John Shelley of the sheriff's office, were described as novel ones in that they were made via telephone.

The men held, all ex-convicts and all of them at one time residents of Joliet, are also wanted by federal authorities for two post office burglaries.

Two of them, James H. Dunn, 34, and Michael Edens, 22, and a 17 year-old St. Louis girl were picked up late last week for a traffic violation at Brentwood, Mo., a suburb of St. Louis. In looking over the car police found burglar tools and after questioning the pair, telephoned Sheriff Knater.

Knater and Shelley talked to the two suspects over the telephone and they are alleged to have confessed to the Will county and Grundy county burglaries previously mentioned. They also implicated a third man, Joseph R. Pittman, 28, of St. Louis. Knater called St. Louis police and they picked up Pittman and put him in jail. Pittman also is said to have admitted taking part in the burglaries here.

The trio is charged with the burglaries at the Frankfort

Grain Co. office and the Warning Chevrolet agency at Frankfort. Two safes were looted of their contents which totaled around $3,400 in checks and money. The Swanberg Co. implement firm on Wolf road, Mokena, a neighboring store, Ordman Brothers' food mart, and the Willow Crest school were all entered but the only place the thieves found any money was in a reed (used in certain musical instruments) vending machine at the school. There was about $15 in the machine, it was estimated. Some cigarets were taken at the food store and the safe there damaged. Nothing was taken at Swanberg's.

State's Attorney Frank H. Masters has sent warrants to Missouri for the return of the trio held there. Masters also sent a letter asking the suspects to waive extradition. If they refuse, Masters said, he will take steps to have them extradited, if the federal people don't get them first.

Frankfort School Sues Fire Sprinkler Firm For $6,800

Suit has been filed in the Will county circuit court against the David E. McDaniel Co., Inc. and its president, Wayne M. McDaniel, of Valparaiso, Ind., by the Frankfort grade school board for damages allegedly caused by breaks in an automatic sprinkling system installed in the school by the defendants to protect the building against fire.

The board, represented by the law firm of Sangmeister and Santoro, of Frankfort, is asking a total of $6,800. It is asking $5,000 for water damage to ceilings, walls and floors in five classrooms, the principal's office, two washrooms, several hallways and the destruction of books, maps and charts. It is asking $1,000 for damages that occurred after the company had sent two men to repair the original cause of damage, only to have another pipe break 24 hours after the first ones were repaired. The $800 represents the cost to the board in having the system changed from a wet to a dry one. A wet system is one in which water lies in all the pipes all the time; a dry system is one in which the water is controlled from a central valve and automatically fed into the system as needed.

The board claims that the defendants recommended the wet system. Later on, the board states, it found that the dry system was preferable and so made the change. One of the disadvantages of a wet system in this installation, it was pointed out, is that some of the pipes run thru the attic where they could freeze in cold weather.

The school board entered into a contract with the defendants on Dec. 12, 1959. It claims that faulty workmanship and material were responsible for a break in the system on Dec. 24, 1960. The company sent two men to the school to repair the damage. The suit charges that their work was faulty and as a result there was another break 24 hours later.

Value Estate Of A. Oram At $104,296

Albert E. Oram, late of New Lenox, who died Dec. 26, left an estate valued at $104,296, according to the petition accompanying his will which has been filed for probate.

The petition describes the estate as being made up of $64,296 and $40,000 in realty. Bulk of the estate goes to a brother, Ernest G. Oram, Rt. 1, New Lenox, who also is named in the will as executor. Specific bequests include $1,000 to a sister, Mrs. Alice Hobbs, of Manhattan; $15,000 to a niece, Jane Ann Crawford, of Rt. 1, Manhattan. She is to receive that amount or an amount equal to the cash value of the property left to a nephew, Ernest Robert Oram, of New Lenox.

To this nephew the decedent left his personal effects, jewelry, automobile and household goods, plus his livestock, poultry, grain, farm machinery and equipment.

The remainder of the estate goes to the brother, Ernest.

Albert Krusemark Files In State Senate Race

Albert H. Krusemark, of Frankfort, attorney and long identified as an active participant in Republican politics, filed his petitions at Springfield on Monday as a candidate for the Illinois senate from the 41st district. The 41st district is made up of Will and DuPage counties.

Mr. Krusemark's decision to run was sudden but not really surprising. He has had the idea of becoming a candidate for state senator for sometime but gave no utterance to that fact because like his father, the late Albert H. Krusemark, Sr., he was a loyal supporter of Senator Lottie Holman O'Neill, of Downers Grove, who has held the senatorial post 11 years now and before that was a member of the house for a quarter century. When Mrs. O'Neill announced in late summer that she would be a candidate for reelection that ruled Krusemark off, he figured, because he didn't want to do or say anything that could be construed as a defection. Nor could he make a conditional announcement. "I'll run if Mrs. O'Neill doesn't." Political opponents could, and likely would then charge that the pair were conspiring to keep any other O'Neill supporters out of the picture.

So Krusemark gave no indication he was interested in becoming a senatorial candidate until after Mrs. O'Neill had it announced last week by her son, Elmer O'Neill, of Glen Ellyn, that she was withdrawing as a candidate and planned to retire from politics at the end of her current term of office.

It was on Monday that Mrs. O'Neill made her announcement and Krusemark acted promptly. On the following day he announced that he would seek the Republican nomination for senator.

Krusemark in no tyro in politics and is quite familiar with the demands of a senatorial campaign as he served Mrs. O'Neill as her Will county campaign manager on several occasions and Will county has always delivered handsomely for her.

The newly announced candidate is a native of Frankfort. He attended grade school there, high school and junior college at Joliet and in 1936 was graduated from the University of Illinois. He then continued his studies in the U. of I. School of Law and received his degree there in 1938. The same year he was admitted to practice in Illinois. His father had a law office in Joliet and the son became his partner, the firm name being Krusemark and Krusemark. Following the death of his father in 1950, Mr. Krusemark took Louis E. Bertani, of Joliet, into the firm which is now Krusemark and Bertani.

Mr. Krusemark has served as precinct committeeman in Frankfort since 1948 and eight years ago he was named to the Will county Republican central committee executive group and for the past four years has been recording secretary for the group.

He was elected to the Lincoln-Way high school board when the district was organized in 1952 and has served on that body, as president, since then.

He also is president of the Frankfort State Bank, and is a past president of the Will County Bar Association. He also is a member of the Illinois and American Bar associations and the American Judicature Society.

He is a member of St. Peter's United Church of Christ at Frankfort and formerly served on the church board. He is a past president of the Frankfort Lions club and a member of the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce. He has served on the Will county health board for the past eight years and since 1958 has been a director of the Pure Milk Association representing portions of Will, Grundy and Kendall counties. He also is the attorney for the village of Frankfort.

Krusemark and his wife, Bernice, reside at 231 Oak street, Frankfort. They have a son, Albert Jr., a student at the University of Illinois, and a daughter, Mary Sue, a freshman at Lincoln-Way.

The only other candidate to announce for the Republican senatorial nomination is Harris Fawell, a DuPage county attorney, who lost in the primary four years ago against Senator O'Neill. It was the big vote the senator polled in Will County that returned her the winner.

Summit Hill PTG To Hold Postponed Meeting Tonight

MRS. EDWARD HOVI
Mokena 5740

The regular monthly meeting of the Summit Hill PTG, which had been scheduled for Jan. 11, has been re-scheduled for tonight, Thursday, Jan. 18, at 8:00 p.m., at the school. Ice and snow caused the postponement.

Since there was not a quorum of members present for the general meeting of the Arbury Hills Civic Association, which was held on Tuesday evening, January 9, at the school, no official meeting could be held. Instead of an official meeting, there was an informal discussion held on several subjects.

With the election of officers for the Civic Association due to be held during the month of February, a nominating committee was formed of volunteers. Those who volunteered at the meeting were: Tom Tanis, Byron Skinner, Bob Zay, George Peterson, Keith Miller, Joe Arcuri, George Brady, Mrs. Rushing, and Mrs. Muccio. There will be a meeting scheduled by the group in the immediate future.

There was also quite a thorough discussion of the problem of loose dogs which are again beginning to run in packs. Apparently, these dogs, for the most part, are not strays; but are owned by Arbury Hills residents.

When these dogs begin to run in packs of five and six they become a definite danger to all the children in the area, it was claimed.

All dog owners should realize that in owning a dog, a responsibility is thereby taken on to be aware of what that dog is doing at all times, it was pointed out.

A dog should be either fenced in his yard, or tied in the yard and walked on a leash.

After the meeting there were coffee and cake served by Mrs. Rushing, and Mrs. Skinner with this being followed by two movies shown by John Smith. One of the movies was taken by John of events in Arbury Hills, including the snow storm in mid-April of last year. The second movie was a sound film pertaining to five rules of safe driving to prevent accidents.

The Arbury Hills Baby Sitters Cooperative held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. William O'Neill of 19327 South Oak Street on last Wednesday evening, Jan. 10.

The next monthly meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mrs. George Peterson of 9451 West Elm ave. on Wednesday evening, Feb. 14 at 8:00 o'clock. Any member who will attend the meeting is asked to notify Mrs. Peterson at Mokena 5713 before the day of the meeting.

The secretary's book was turned over to Mrs. O'Neill by Mrs. Munday for the month of January. Any member who wishes to use the services of the baby sitters group, can obtain a sitter by contacting Mrs. William O'Neill at Mokena 5155.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zay, Victoria and Bob, as their friends know them, now live in their new home at 19600 South Walnut. They moved here from Cicero about three months ago.

Bob is a product engineer with Maremont Incorporated, a firm which is moving to Harvey in the next month.

Rose and Joseph Arcuri moved here from Chicago about three months ago to live in Arbury Hills at 19547 South Walnut.

They live there now with their three children: Joseph, Jr., who is nine and in third grade at St. Mary's in Mokena, Mary Catherine is five and not yet in school, and Theresa Marie is two years old. Joseph Sr. is employed by Sears Roebuck and Co. in Chicago.

Taxes Are Always With Us

If you have a job you are working for government--the federal government, the state, county, town, and village governments or many others that may spring to life in the coming months.

When we say government we include all those separate taxing bodies, school districts, sanitary districts, forest preserves, park districts, mosquito abatement districts and all the other districts that have the power to tax and issue bonds.

Maurice W. Scott, executive secretary of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois has some statistics to go with the statement that you too are a government worker.

The average American who works, says Scott, puts in one hour and 39 minutes out of an 8-hour day just to pay his federal taxes and if he is one of those with a substantial income he would put in far more time to meet his debt to Uncle Sam.

Counting in state and local taxes an average American who works spends an estimated two hours and 17 minutes out of an 8-hour day to meet his tax bills.

Figures show that while most of the public attention if given to the federal tax picture the rise there has been less than on local levels. Between 1945 and 1960 the federal tax load rose 123%. That is a very substantial increase anyone will admit but look at the state and local taxes. They have increased 284% in the same 15-year period.

According to Scott 67% of the tax money that goes to Washington is for defense; 11% for interest on the national debt; 3% for foreign aid and other international programs; 6% for aid to veterans, and 23% for aid to agriculture, labor, welfare projects, space, regulation of business and the like.

The great bulk of the tax money collected at local levels goes for schools.

With Congress getting ready to meet and a special session of the Illinois legislature in prospect for this spring all of us will do well to keep an eye on measures that will increase our tax load. Taxes are not an academic subject to be given abstract attention. They are quite personal in that they affect all of us.

Out of every $1 received by state and local governments approximately 14 cents came in the form of aid, says Scott. Figures for 1961 are not yet available but in 1960 the federal aid packet totaled nearly $7-billion. Some 45 different grants are made for such purposes as highways, welfare, health, education and urban renewal.

Mr. Scott offers some quotes from one of our great leaders which are well worth remembering because they are as true today as when they were uttered:

"You cannot bring about prosperity by discontinuing thrift.

"You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.

"You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than your income.

"You cannot establish security on borrowed money.

"You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence.

"You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves."

The man who said them--Abraham Lincoln.

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Made any New Year's resolutions? Well, here's a suggestion and it shouldn't be too difficult to keep -- Feed the Birds.

A lot of people do, but on the other hand there are a lot of birds and there is this about birds -- like teenagers they are always hungry.

With deep snow and a layer of ice under that it is difficult for birds to get at their natural food supplies. In the fields and forest preserves there are some seed-bearing weeds that poke up thru the snow but one doesn't find such treasure troves in the towns.

There is general food to be had around farm yards and barn lots but the town birds lack such facilities.

With housing developments inching out into the countryside a lot of cover that wildlife once enjoyed has been destroyed.

And since man has taken away the means for birds and wild animals to fend for themselves we really owe them something.

The woodpeckers and chickadees can get at insects and spiders that hibernate in the bark on trees. Birds that prefer worms will have to do the best they can with substitutes because to get worms now a bird would have to have a bill as long as a flamingo's, as large as a pelican's and have a long tip of carbide steel in order to get thru the snow and ice.

Perching has been a problem too because of ice encrusted limbs but some branches are clear and the birds use them. Cardinals are to be seen in brush patches, some huddled against a tree for protection against the biting wind.

It is indeed weather that is tough on birds.

And if there is anything to that old axiom about blood being thicker than water we can't just turn away and say that helping the birds is not our business.

For according to an old legend of the Sioux the wings of the air are our relatives. Like us they are two legged and that makes them our kin but that is not all -- we owe existence to them, according to the story handed down thru generations of the people that make up the Sioux nation.

Long, long ago before people were gathered into families and nations Red Thunder, one of the holy ones sent to guide and teach the people, became lost while hunting and a great storm of wind and thunder but no rain. Red Thunder took refuge under a shelf of rock and went to sleep.

He was awakened by the great voices of the Thunder Beings and found himself floating in a cluster of beautiful hills (the Black Hills) rising as an island in the middle of the hoop of the world. The Thunder Beings told him to look well because a great decision was to be made. Who would rule the world, the four-leggeds or the two leggeds. And he saw gathered on one side all the four-leggeds that lived there and on the other side were the winds of the air, who like us are two legged. They were to race around the hoop of the world and the winners would have the power of life and death over the losers. And since man was two-legged his fate too would be settled by the outcome of the race.

The size and speed of many of the four-leggeds was such that it seemed a foregone conclusion they would be the winners so they felt but they failed to take in account an old magpie. Magpies know everything so when the race was started this magpie flew down and perched on the ear of a bison bull.

Now to race around the hoop of the world is a very long race indeed. Somedays when it was hot the four-leggeds went slow and the wings of the air were ahead; and some days there was great winds and rains that buffeted and held back the wings of the air and the four-leggeds were ahead. The race went on and one and the old magpie continued to sit on the ear of the bison bull, thinking and watching. At last came the day when the race ended. The goal was in sight and the four-leggeds were ahead and were so certain of winning that all of them began to lift their voices, each making his own sound.

Then the old magpie, who was as fresh as the day the race started because he had ridden all the way and had not tapped his strength, the old magpie rose high in the air and with swift beating wings soared first over the goal.

And the Thunder Beings declared him the winner and that the four-leggeds were subjects of the two-leggeds, and that man being a two-legged was a relative of the wings of the air so shared with them in the fruits of the victory.

It would seem that the least we could do for our cousins is to put out some grain or bread crumbs.

At various times in the remote past, the North Magnetic Pole has visited Japan, Hawaii and Oregon.

Business & Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

As of January, the budget bureau announced that the consumer price index will be based on 1957-59 average prices rather than the 1947 - 49 level. This is, of course, the index used in the U. S. Bureau of Labor cost of living index on which labor contracts have been based. The government will continue to publish the index on 1947-49 base until June, 1964. Use of the 1947-49 price level as the base for measuring cost of living, has been in effect since January, 1953.

The cost of living index is widely used to measure the relative erosion of purchasing power.

Various political administrations have changed the base for the cost of living index. Undoubtedly, the change of base is desirable to avoid unfriendly criticism of effects of fiscal policies by making the situation somewhat obscure from the untrained and casual observer. However, erosion of the monetary units has been going on since the first monetary unit was invented and the showing, thru an index change, of the value change over a long period of years, would be difficult and possibly so involved as to be meaningless to the average observer.

Few students believe that we will not have further erosion of the value of the dollar during 1962.

As anticipated, the countries of western Europe and ourselves, have created a sizeable fund to guard against a run on the dollar or other western world currency, by speculators or unfriendly nations.

One of the world's leading monetary authorities, Dr. Reinhard Kamitz, president of the Austrian National Bank, has recently been speaking to banking groups in Stockholm and Oslo. As finance minister of Austria from 1952 to 1960, Dr. Kamitz is credited with having introduced and enforced the currency and austerity program which curbed the post-war inflation of Austria and aided in that country's present prosperity.

Dr. Kamitz states that serious economic penalties will result unless American and European economies rid themselves of "embedded inflation". He is very critical of the hidden inflationary factors in Cradle-to-the-grave security and full employment philosophy seen on both sides of the Atlantic.

Competition between wages, prices, old age pensions and salaries, results in struggles for larger slices of the national income cake and diminishing of sources of capital formation which, in turn, slows down economic growth.

The market has been washing back and forth with little upward progress in so far as the averages are concerned.

Some of the better known analysts note that odd-lot sales have been greater than purchases in this period of price dip and they express belief that this is usually wrong. This belief is based on the so-called theory of Contrary Opinion whose adherents believe the reverse of odd lot action may well be right.

A number of leading analysts point out that business activity is likely to continue to improve, but that a wary eye will be kept on the likelihood of a steel strike.

Government officials and some industry spokesmen express belief there will be no strike. However, the cynics point to the same predictions in 1959 when the long strike of steel workers sparked the recent recession.

The Tinley Park dog, whose name is Bella, has just had a litter of seven. Mother and pups are doing well but you can see from the picture that there are times when she decides to get away from it all or at least a brief spell. The father of the pups is also owned by Mrs. Keuch. The usual number of pups in a Chihuahua litter is three or possibly four, it was said.

Eagles Top Braves, Retain Conference Lead

By GEORGE FREED

Classy Carl Sandburg ran his undefeated Southwest Suburban string to seven straight last Friday night, edging Bremen 58-53.

The Braves' bright spot in the set-back was sharp shooting Al Lussow, whose name in the future will be mentioned in the same breath with Bill Lindsey, Dale Hartwig and Jim Mifflin, former Bremengreats. Bottling up Al was an impossibility as he hit 30 pts. on a variety of shots from all over the floor. Late in the game in a desperation move Coach Adams pulled soph-playmaker Dick Hlavcek out of the zone to harass Lussow on a man to man basis. Dick couldn't stop the Bremen hot shot, but no doubt limited his attempts from the field.

The quote Coach Bill Adams, "Bremen is the best we've met, better than Joliet Township when they beat us in the holiday tournament. We were lucky to get past them."

For Sandburg it was some fine clutch shooting late in the second half by Jim Lavine that helped supply the knockout punch. The Braves concentrated their defensive efforts on Lance Roberts who connected on only two baskets but hit 16 free throws for 20 pts. Lavine got 20 on nine buckets and two charity shots. De Voursney got some timely baskets late in the second half for 12 pts.

The Braves set a fast pace in the opening quarter stepping off to a 19-16 lead. Sandburg grabbed a four point edge at intermission 29-25. At the three quarter mark it was the Eagles by 3, 40-37.

Carl Sandburg hit 419 from the field and 710 from the charity stripe. Bremen shot an even 500 to go with a 454 percentage from the foul line.

It was a great win for the Eagles, and a real tough loss for Bremen who played a whale of a game. Bremen may not win the conference championship but will have a lot to say in the second halves to who will.

EAGLE FRESH-SOPH WIN
Undefeated Carl Sandburg topped the little Braves in a fresh-soph encounter 47-38 to remain in sole possession of first place in the S. W. conference. The Braves are 3-4. MEET KNIGHTS Tomorrow night the Eagles attempt to add to their fancy 12-3 record by taking on Lincolnway the second time at Orland Park. Sandburg won the first one on the Knights floor 52-36.

(Editor's Note: This is a condensed version of an address delivered before the Inland Daily Press Association conference at Chicago last fall by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa, Oklahoma, Tribune. You may have seen a paragraph or so printed before but we think this is something everyone should have an opportunity to read, in greater detail. Words in the headline were borrowed from the one appearing above the article in the Industrial News Review. It is long but don't be so lazy--read it. It really is worth reading).

before the sun comes up again. "I look upon our country and much that I see disturbs me. But we are a great people. We have a noble tradition. We have to teach the world, and if America should go down soon it would be too early.

"One thing is certain. We shall be given no centuries for a leisurely and comfortable decay. We have an enemy now--remorseless, crude, brutal and cocky. However much the leaders of the communist conspiracy may lie to their subjects about our motives, about our conditions of prosperity, about our policies, and aims, one thing they believe themselves implicitly--and that is we are in an advanced state of moral decline.

"When Nikita Khrushchev visited Hollywood he was shown only one movie set, that of a wild dance scene in Can-Can. He said it represented decadence and I am sure he really thought so. It is a dogma of current communist faith that America is Sodom and Gomorrah, ripe for the kill. "Do you know what scares me about communism? It is not their political system, which is primitive and savage. It is not their economic system which works so badly that progress in a few directions is purchases at the price of progress in all the rest. It is their puritanism. It is their dedication and self-sacrifice.

"It does no good to comfort ourselves with the reflection that these are the products of endless brainwashes, of incessant propaganda, of deprivation by censorship and jamming of counter-information and contrary arguments. The dedication is there. The confidence that they are morally superior is there. "The naive questions of your Intourist guide reveal only too quickly that she thinks she is talking to a self-indulgent from the court of some latter Louis XIV. In the school yard the children rush up to show you, not their yo-yos, but their scholarship medals. And when you offer them new Lincoln pennies as souvenirs they rip off their little Young Pioneer buttons and hand them to you, proud that they are not taking gifts but are making a fair exchange.

"The Russian stage is an anachronism as the Victorian stage, Russian literature may be corny but it is clean, and it glorifies the Russian people and exudes optimism and promise. Russian art is stiffly representational, but the paintings and the sculpture strives to depict beauty and heroism--Russian beauty, of course, and Russian heroism.

"And what of us? "We are now at the end of the third decade of the nationally insanity known as 'progressive education.' This was the education where everybody passes, where the report cards were non-committal lest the failure be faced with the fact of his failure, where all moved at a snail pace like a transatlantic conveyer so that slowest need not be left behind, and all proceeded toward adulthood in the lockstep of 'togetherness.' Thus the competition that breeds excellence was to be sacrificed for the benefit of something called 'life adjustment.'

"With what results? We have watched juvenile delinquency climb steadily. We have produced tens of thousands of high school graduates who move their lips as they read and cannot write a coherent paragraph. While our Russian contemporaries, who were supposed to be dedicated to the mass man, have been busy constructing an elite we have been engaged in the wholesale production of mediocrity. What a switch!

"The funny thing about 'progressive education' is that the theory vanishes when the referee's whistle blows for the kick-off. In the classroom they pretend to grade subjectively, against the student's supposed capacity, lest he be humiliated by natural inadequacy. But on the football field they never put in a one-legged halfback on the theory that, considering his disability, he's a great halfback. They put in the best halfback they've got, period. The ungifted sit on the bench, or back in the stands, even tho they, too, might thirst for glory. If our schools were as anxious to turn out brains as they are to turn out winning football teams this strange contradiction wouldn't exist.

"Having neglected disciplines in education it was quite logical that we should reject discipline in art. . . Self-discipline as practiced by the masters is of little concern to the modern non-objective painter. All he needs is pigment and a press agent. He can throw colors at a canvas and the art world will discover him. He can stick bits of glass, old rags and quids of used chewing tobacco on a board and he is a social critic. He can drive a car back and forth in pools of paint and Life magazine will write him up.

"Talent is for squares. If you paint a cow it must look something like a cow. This takes at least a sign painter's ability. But you can claim to paint a picture of your psyche and no matter what the result who can say what your psyche looks like. So our museums are filled with daubs being stared at by confused citizens who haven't the guts to admit they are confused.

"Our Puritan ancestors were preoccupied with sin. . . But they had horsepower. They wrestled livings from rocky land, built our earliest colleges, started our literature, caused our industrial revolution, and found time in between to fight the Indians, the French and the British. Their philosophy rested on a great granite rock. Man was the master of his soul. You didn't have to be bad. You could and should be better and if you wanted to escape the eternal fires you'd damned well better be."

(Jones points out that all this is changed now. . . that we treat sin as imaginary and hold man is a product of his heredity and environment and is more or less helpless and therefore not responsible. Movies are dirty and getting dirtier and the same of our literature -- only it is called realism.)

soul of America? "For nations do have souls. They have collective personalities. People who think well of themselves collectively exhibit elan and enthusiasm and morale. When nations cease believing in themselves, when they regard their institutions with cynicism and their traditions with flippancy they will not long remain great nations. When they seek learning without effort and wages without work they are beginning to stagger. Where they become hedonistic and pleasure-oriented, when their Boy Scouts on their 14 mile hikes start to hitch, there's trouble ahead. Where payola becomes a way of life, expense account cheating common, and union goonery a fiercely defended 'right,' that nation is in danger. And where police departments attempt to control burglary by the novel method of making it a department monopoly then the chasm yawns.

"Do not let me overdraw the picture. This is still a great, powerful, vibrant, able optimistic nation, Americans--our readers--do believe in themselves and in their country.

WHAT IS A TRUST?
Lawyers and bankers seem prone these days to tell us how useful a "trust" can be in disposing of property, without ever explaining just what a trust is. To many of us, the word "trust" connotes something undesirable, probably as a result of common terms such as "anti-trust laws" or "trust busting", which apply to monopolies. However, the type of trust referred to here is one of the most effective devices for protecting widows and orphans. An example best illustrates the nature of a trust. Suppose Tom owned a farm, and wants to leave it to his wife and children after his death, but he realizes that his wife is unacquainted with farm management, and that it will be many years before the children are old enough to take over. Tom can provide in his will that the farm shall be placed in a trust. Then, when Tom dies, title passes to a person, called the "trustee", whom Tom has designated to manage the farm until the children are capable of taking over. The trustee is obligated to operate the farm and to pay the income to Tom's wife and children, the "beneficiaries" of the trust. This arrangement continues until the trust is terminated in accordance with directions in the will, and the children take title to the farm and hold it free and clear of the trust.

This same sort of trust arrangement can be used with any type of property, such as stocks, money, or a business. Normally property is placed into a trust only if it produces income. For example, it would be impractical to put your car or your stamp collection into a trust. The trustee can be an individual or a corporation. In Illinois a corporation cannot act as trustee unless it first qualifies to act in that capacity. The trustee is not free to do as he pleases with the trust property. He is under an obligation to manage and invest it prudently, so that it produces the highest income consistent with safety. He is obligated to pay income to the beneficiaries or to accumulate it for their benefit, as directed in the trust, and to make a proper distribution of assets when the trust is terminated. Naturally, the trustee is entitled to receive compensation for his work. An individual whom you name as trustee may not choose to charge you for anything other than his expenses, but he may die or move away, or be unwilling to undertake the responsibility. For these reasons the use of trust companies as trustee has grown popular.

However, the trust arrangement may not be practical for some small properties if a corporate trustee is to be used, because the charges may be out of proportion to the value of the trust property. Trusts need not be connected to a will. They may be set up to begin during the lifetime of the person creating the trust,

"But there is rot and there is blight and there is cutting and filling to be done if we, as the leader of free men, are to survive the hammer blows which quite plainly are in store for us all.

"I am fed up to here with the educationists and pseudo-social scientists who have under-rated our potential as a people. I am fed up to here with the mediocre men who try to pass off pretence for art and prurience for literature. I am tired of seeing America debased and low rated in the eyes of foreigners. And I am genuinely disturbed that to idealistic youth in many countries the fraud of communism appears synonymous with morality, while we, the chief repository of real freedom are regarded as being in the last stages of decay.

"In this hour of fear, confusion and self-doubt let there be a fresh breeze, a breeze of new honesty, new idealism, new integrity. "And there, gentlemen of the press, is where you come in. You have typewriters, presses and a huge audience. "How about raising hell?"

and may be subject to revocation by him during his life, or irrevocable. Also, the proceeds of insurance policies may be placed in trust. There are state tax and income tax advantages to be gained by careful use of the trust device. These advantages are most important in connection with substantial estates, and require the consideration of competent counsel for appropriate use.

Announces New Stamp Deal In Area

A new stamp deal has been introduced in the area, the American Food Plan System which can bring cash or food to the holder, it was announced by Lawrence R. Preston, of Orland Park, vice president of the firm.

"Long rumored in the industry," Mr. Preston said, "the American Food Plan premium stamp is now marketed by the American Food Plan System. Headquarters of the company are at Coral Gables, Fla., and it has regional offices thruout the country.

"The modern American housewife is economy minded," Preston continued, "and has been waiting for this--a premium stamp that will assist her in supplementing her food budget.

"Under the American Food Plan premium system the housewife will receive stamps on her purchases from neighborhood retail stores; then by going to her independent supermarket that will be an appointed AFP redemption center, will be able to utilize her stamps on family food purchases. This in effect puts cash in her pocket, thus raising her family's purchasing power and standard of living."

Participating retailers and stores that will serve as redemption centers are being lined up now, Preston said.

READ LUKE 24: 13-26
Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me. (Matthew 25-40.)

In the book "In the Steps of the Master," the English author H. V. Morton tells about walking up the hillside of the Mountain of Temptations. There Morton saw ten Greek monks living in a hut built into the rocky mountainside. According to the tradition, this was the cave where Jesus fasted. The monks offered Morton bread, for every stranger who comes to the cave is treated as if he were the Lord Himself.

The wandering Christ is standing at the door today, for He is walking the roads of this world. Evil may cross our paths, and sometimes we are tempted to believe that evil is the ruling force in the world. This is not so. Christ is among us, and He is love. He comes as the truth and the life. He comes to each of us. We must do as did the monks on the Mountain of Temptations--offer our neighbor love and concern as if he were Christ Himself.

PRAYER: O God, ruler of the world, we give Thee thanks that Thou has sent us Christ, who walks the roads of the world today. Help us to receive Him and recognize Him in our fellow men when they come to our door. Give us humble and obedient hearts to glorify Thee, in Jesus' name, Amen.

Fallout shelter survey contracts with two Chicago firms for Kane, DuPage and Will counties, and the southernmost part of Cook county were announced today by the Chicago Army Engineer District.

Kane and DuPage counties will be covered by DeLeuw, Cather and Co. The second firm, A. Epstein and Sons, Inc., will be responsible for Will county and six townships of southern Cook county: Lemont, Orland, Bremen, Thornton, Rich and Bloom.

The Chicago architect-engineer concerns were the sixth and seventh in Illinois to be awarded survey work, according to Lt. Col. Clifford S. Ott, Acting District Engineer in Chicago.

one of the survey, under which the population will be calculated and potential shelters selected in each "standard location" is a small geographical area based on Census Bureau procedures. Communities in Cook county that will be surveyed under the contract with A. Epstein and Sons, Inc., are: Lemont, Orland Park, Tinley Park, part of Blue Island, Country Club Hills, part of Crestwood, Harvey, Hazel Crest, Homewood, Markham, Midlothian, Oak Forest, Posen, part of Robbins, Burnham, Calumet City, Dixmoor, Dolton, East Hazelcrest, Lansing, Phoenix, part of Riverdale, South Holland, Thornton, Flossmoor, Matteson, Olympia Fields, Park Forest, Richton Park, Chicago Heights, South Chicago Heights, Glenwood, Lynwood, Sauk and Steger.

Teams from the firm, competent professional employees, will determine peak night and day populations for each location. Then they will select as potential shelters, the structures which they estimate provide a protection factor of at least 20, and can accommodate 50 or more people.

The selection will be made primarily by studying available maps—real estate, fire, insurance, city and county issues; and the A-E representatives will show the structures on lists and special maps.

A shelter with a protective factor of 20, the colonel explained, means that an unprotected person outside would be exposed to 20 times more radiation than one in the refuge.

In almost every community there are believed to be buildings and structures which can provide adequate shelter from the effects of radioactive fallout, in case of a nuclear attack on the United States.

The teams' only purpose will be to make a shelter survey and the rights of property owners will not be infringed, declared the colonel.

Based on the data provided by the surveying firm, it is expected that the Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense will decide for each area how many shelter facilities are needed by day and by night, and what is available.

This will provide the basis for Phase Two. During this phase the best of the shelters will be selected and local civil and civil defense authorities will be requested to obtain agreements from owners, consenting to make their facilities available as public shelters.

When an owner's agreement has been secured, the architect-engineer representatives will visit the structure to determine the feasibility and cost of possibly improving the shelter area. This includes increasing its capacity, and improving its protection factor and habitability.

Each facility selected will be marked with signs, including signs outside the structure as well as inside.

As a result of Phase Two, the Chicago District will be in a position to give local officials and civil defense authorities listings of the shelters, to help them in preparing up to date plans for local use.

The survey will be conducted in cooperation with civil defense officials in each county or municipality. The Illinois Office of Civil Defense, headed by Col. Donovan M. Vance, and the Chicago Army Engineer District are working together, receiving survey requirements from the North Central Army Engineer Division, located in Chicago, and coordinating with the Fourth Regional Office of Civil Defense in Battle Creek, Mich.

Nationwide, the shelter survey is being carried out under the Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense. To date, $93 million have been appropriated by Congress to finance the locating and marking of shelter areas.

Department of Defense officials have indicated this survey will identify enough fallout shelter spaces to protect as much as one quarter of the U. S. population, about 50 million persons, from radioactive fallout.

Anyone For Volleyball?

The Rev. James A. Parker, pastor of the Frankfort Methodist church, announced today that any adult males desiring to play volleyball may do so by coming to the Frankfort grade school gym every Wednesday, except the second Wednesday of the month.

Anyone desiring to participate in this friendly game and needs the exercise is invited to come over to the gym at 7:30 p.m. They will play until 9:30. The Rev. Mr. Parker figures that this is enough exercise for anyone.

The Old Testament refers to Byblos, Lebanon, as Begal. The towns' Phoenician name is Jubayl. But Greeks and Romans called it Byblos because of the scrolls of papyrus (biblos) manufactured there.

SNOW TOMORROW?

SEE THE SCOUT® TODAY

Winter wonderlands won't worry or weary the new INTERNATIONAL Scout. Its 4-cylinder, 93-horsepower Comanche engine packs power aplenty to plow snow or push stalled cars. Front-mounted winch and 78-inch snow plow with hydraulic lift are winter-ready options built especially for the all-wheel-drive Scout.

Snug in the weathertight, all steel cab, warmed by a high-capacity fresh-air heater/defroster, you can laugh at winter's worst and keep on going. The Scout's 100-inch wheelbase is ideal for tight turns—a full circle in less than two lanes. And its 13-foot over-all length and 68 inch width take less room in the cramped space plowing and winter servicing may allow.

Senatorial Race Brings Fawell To New Lenox

Some 100 persons from the New Lenox-Mokena area attended a "coffee" for Harris Fawell, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Vally at New Lenox last Saturday night (Jan. 13). Mr. Fawell, of Naperville, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator in the 41st district, which is made up of Will and DuPage counties.

In the course of the evening, between 8 o'clock and midnight Mr. Fawell (pronounced Fay-well) talked with three different groups. He was introduced by James Hall, president of the Will County Young Republican club.

Until last week Fawell's opposition was the veteran legislator, Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill. Sen O'Neill had announced her intention to seek office again last fall but since mid-December she has been staying at the Edwards hospital of Naperville, recuperating from a state of near exhaustion, according to her son, youth group.

Elmer O'Neill, and decided not to file for re-election. Since Mrs. O'Neill's announcement Albert H. Krusemark of Frankfort has tossed his hat in the ring and Fawell is carrying the fight to Krusemark's own grounds.

Fawell has been practicing law since 1952, following his graduation from Kent college of law and from 1953 to 1957 served DuPage county as an assistant state's attorney. He was president of DuPage County Family Service Association in 1956, 1957 and 1960 and has been a member of its board of directors since 1954. He is now on the board of directors of Naperville WMCA.

Mr. Fawell is a former president of the official board of the Naperville Methodist church and has taught Sunday school since 1955. He is a former chairman of the legal aid committee of the DuPage County Bar Association and former adult advisor to the Methodist church youth group.

SCORES OF FIREMEN from departments in the DesPlaines Valley Fire Dept. Mutual Aid Association responded to the call for help sent out early Tuesday when a $2-million dollar fire destroyed one of the buildings on the Lewis college campus. Early fire crews hastening to the scene found themselves stuck in snowdrifts within a quarter mile of the conflagration. It was 15 to 20 minutes before this apparatus could be freed and continue to the fire. More than 100 firemen were on the job, representing various departments including Lockport, West Lockport, Lemont, Homer and Northwest Homer, East Joliet and Plainfield. Firemen were further handicapped by shortage of water and zero temperatures. The man in the white coat and helmet is Chief Frank Morris of the Homer department. (Golden Triangle Photo)

WATER WAS SCARCE on the Lewis college campus and its lack was a serious handicap to firemen called to fight the blaze in the aviation school building. These two firemen are doing what they can with what water they have to keep the flames in check. There is a water supply at the college but the reserve was quickly used up and firemen had to depend largely on the supply from their tank trucks. Because the first companies to respond got stuck in snowdrifts, a fact that delayed their arrival at a crucial time the flames gained too much headway. (Golden Triangle photo)

STUDENTS SALVAGE some of their belongings from the dormitory section of the aviation school on the Lewis college campus when that building was destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning. Lewis college is on U.S. 66-A, Lockport township. The aviation school was housed in a large brick building containing 54,000 square feet of floor space. It housed five aircraft, including three helicopters, as well as electronic devices and other instruments used in plane repairs and maintenance. There was also a dormitory section. Ten students were routed from their beds by the flames shortly before 12:30 a.m. Tuesday. That some of their effects were saved is shown by the photographer. Damage was estimated by school officials at $2-million--$500,000 to the buildings and the contents were valued at $1 1/2-million. (Golden Triangle photo) sored by the Evergreen Park Post 854 of the American Legion is to begin at 1 p.m.

Three state champions will be in competition under the auspices of the Midwest Color Guard Circuit. They include the Spectacle City Mariners (Wisconsin); the Muncie Magicians (Indiana); and the McHenry Viscounts (Illinois). Upwards of 20 units are expected to participate in the competition. The preliminaries at 1 p.m. will also feature a contest in rifle handling. The finals at 6 p.m. will pit the top eight guards fighting for the large Evergreen traveling trophy. Tickets will be on sale at the door. They cost 25 cents for preliminaries only, and $1 for the prelims and the finals.

Legion Color Guard Units Vie Sunday
